Secret Garden

Accomplishments:

Margaret has extensive knowledge of plants from around the world. She has twenty years of experience with plants particularly suited to the Pacific Northwest. She has developed her own internationally known one acre garden as a training ground for the library of knowledge she brings to her designs.

Margaret has written articles about gardening and design that have been published in national magazines. Her garden has been published in many magazines and books, some of which are listed in this brochure. The photos in this brochure are an example of her personal garden.
